

Scottish National Framework for Mobile Voice and Data Services

Voluntary Sector, Vodafone can help you!

Vodafone has successfully retained the second generation of the Scottish Government's single supplier Framework Agreement for Mobile Voice and Data Services.

The Framework is available to the Scottish public sector and third sector including charities and voluntary organisations.

How it will help you?

- The Framework was awarded by Scottish Government, so you know it is something you can trust and rely on.
- Voluntary sector organisations in Scotland will benefit from highly competitive prices, regardless of their size, and have access to our market leading products and services, with no minimum number of connections.
- By constantly innovating, we are able to help voluntary sector customers stay ahead and benefit from quicker, simpler solutions.

Why Vodafone?

1. Social value

We're committed to keeping Scotland connected. To date we have delivered over £17 million worth of social value across Scotland, including:

Over 138,000 SIMs donated

Over 58,000 SMEs supported with digital training

Over 900 customers on social tariffs

Over 410 phones and tablets provided to those in need

Vodafone are also an accredited real living wage employer, meaning that we are certified by the Living Wage Foundation.

2. Trusted

Our reliable, award-winning network

When it comes to the emergency services, speed, ease and control are key. We always try to make things simple and give your organisation as much choice and control as possible. That's why 77% of Emergency Services already depend on our network.*

3. Proven experience

As a strategic partner to government for over 38 years, we have evolved our services to serve the needs of voluntary sector organisations. Our solutions focus on helping you improve your ability to respond to an ever-changing landscape – while staying well within your budget restraints.

We innovate to help organisations like yours stay ahead. We use emerging technologies to create new opportunities and enable digital transformation.
